

Who Wants To Play Spotto??

What you've never played Spotto?! You have no idea what it is? Shame on you!
It's a national pastime in Australia, where journeys are long and gruelling.
The rules are dead simple mate...

- Fill in the names at the top of the score card.
- Spot an item before your fellow travellers by yelling "Spotto!" and the name of the thing you have spotted.
- Use the table below to keep count of how many points you've got - fill your names in across the top of the score card so that each person gets their own column.
- You're not allowed to spot the same type of item again until two other items have been spotted.
- Tally up your score at the end of the journey or after a set amount of time to see who's won...

NB Yelling "Spotto! Pylon!" is sometimes used as an excuse to all leap on top of your youngest sibling. Science Year does not approve of this kind of fun and is definitely not suggesting it by mentioning it.

So keep you eyes peeled, and spot the items first.
